Mennonites On Return Tell Of Dire Hardships

World, told of pestilence, fever and starvation which they said members of their sect who migrated from Canada two years ago were facing in the South American country.

penniless with her seven children, said her husband died of malnutrition and malaria after sharing his funds with starving members of the sect who were unable to sustain themselves on their unproductive farms. Passengers aboard the ship raised purse of $350 to enable her to return to friends in Canada. They also collected $138 for Anton Schroeder, another destitute Menominee who was taken to a Hoboken, N.J., hospital, suffering with a serious attack of malarial fever. The nine other members of the sect were given financial aid.

had omitted any mention of anxiety concerning his health, which had appeared in several previous bulletins. This was also regarded as a good sign.

Crowd Anxiety

There was much usual anxiety among the crowd which gathered before the palace inasmuch as last night's report had shown that the patient was increasingly feverish and that the infective process was still active.

This anxiety on the public's part doubtless was responsible for the fact that despite a thick fog which had been present since the previous evening's rain, a considerable throng of visitors to the gates throughout the night.

Reading the bulletin being difficult under such conditions, the crowd was reading the bulletin being able to do not only by using electric forces or by the use of the telephone, but also by this morning, however, and there was no difficulty for the crowd to see today's bulletin board plainly when its welcome message was posted.

No Demonstration

There was no cheering or other demonstration when the spectators made their way to the bulletin board in the great plaza, always decorous because of its nearness to the sick chamber, maintained in the most dignified quiet. There were many quiet exchanges of hopeful comment, however, among those who read the bulletin and then went away to pursue their daily occupation.

As might have been expected, plans for the royal Christmas have been altered. The Christmas party, which was to have been held in the great hall, Some days ago arrangements for the court to spend Christmas at Sandringham as usual, were cancelled and the royal family today will remain where they would spend the holiday at Buckingham Palace. Princess Mary may also

Important Information
LONDON, Dec. 6.—A plea for fuller information with regard to King George's illness leads the medical journals. The Lancet suggests that to say that hitherto there has been no authoritative cleanness statement with regard to what his majesty is suffering from. The terms "congestion of the lungs" and "fever" which have been employed, the correspondent says, but only in a manner which seems decidedly tentative. Moreover, the fact that the doctor's reference to temperature have afforded no information of the king to which the public is entitled. It should be expected, he adds, that attempts to read the king's condition from the papers necessarily become of but little value.

It is one of those fogs which, without disturbing the whole town, hung in dense patches about the river and the palace last night was in one of the worst.

Even when they had located the board it was difficult to decipher the big black letters, setting out the condition of the king.

A taxi driver lost the roadway and ran onto the sidewalk nearly knocking over one of the palace sentries. In other parts of London conductors of motor buses were obliged to walk ahead of their vehicles to guide the drivers.

Many pedestrians were knocked down by automobiles, some needing hospital treatment.

Baseball Circuit To Succeed Old Western Canada League Is Proposed

NEW LOOP WOULD BE "FARM" FOR PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE

Tacoma, Spokane and Bellingham Would Be U.S. Centres With Canadian Cities Selected From Vancouver, Victoria, Calgary and Moose Jaw

By BRIAN REEL.
Associated Press Staff Writer
TORONTO, Dec. 6.—The National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues will into action Tuesday, but only for a few minutes. The 26th annual convention was formally opened and two resolutions announced for the day, when baseball history was expected to hold sway on the subject of the draft of "selection of players for promotion" from the minors to the majors.

The words "draft" and "selection" were not mentioned at the opening session, but under reports of committee the question will reach the floor today. Yesterday the reports of officers were received and committees appointed.

VENTURIST SURVEY OF TERRITORY

Harry Williams of Los Angeles president of the Pacific Coast League told of a tentative survey of territory for a proposed Western International League. Such a circuit would include Tacoma, Spokane and Bellingham in the United States, and Vancouver, Victoria, Calgary and Moose Jaw in Canada.

Mr. Williams said he found baseball men in Vancouver eager for such an organization. The proposed league would be a logical successor to the Western Canada League, a flourishing organization here in the "farm" for the Pacific Coast League.

Secretary John H. Farrell advised that the 1928 season was the first in which the league had failed to finish. Eight thousand and six hundred games were played.

The close for the past season came before the first season, Chalmers, Tanager, and Westchester, had already made a bid for the 1929 season.

Transfer of a major league player to a minor league was made by John H. Farrell, former Brooklyn and Chicago pitcher, to Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League.

Another former major league pitcher, Jack Benney, recently transferred to the Victoria team, was named to play the first game of the season.

The American Association at its final meeting of convention at St. Paul, Minn., on Dec. 5, 1928, decided to open and close a year later in 1929. The season will open April 16 and close September 29.

J. Miller, Jr., of St. Paul, Minn., president of the American Association, said that the 1929 season would be the first in which the league had failed to finish.

CANADA SENDS BEST STOCK TO TORONTO SHOW

Explanation Given of Poor Showing at Chicago— Grain is Combat

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—With the conclusion of judging yesterday in the grain show that made up a part of the international livestock exposition, it has become increasingly evident that Canada has come forward to more considerable defeat this year in this competition than for some years.

A grain expert in field peas and the recently used chickpeas, were the only top honors taken by the grain growers of the Dominion at the exposition. The most important title, that of "champion king," the best most common of the grain, was won by a specimen of the oat champion, and a number of others which have either been won at some time by Canada or have been held victorious for the United States at the 1928 show.

Two Way Combat
This has been explained by Canadian agricultural officials at the exposition by the statement that with the exception now forwarded down each side to a two-way contest between the British Columbian country of Montana and the Peace River country of Alberta, is merely a matter of luck which way the grain will grow.

The seed of the two regions is the same and the soil and the climate is practically the same. The primary reason for the difference between the two is the fact that the growth of the grain in the show has prompted Canada to send only the best stock from the Canadian railways for both livestock and their stock make it possible to exhibit at Toronto at comparatively low cost. If the stock is raised here, it is more profitable for the exhibitor. The grain of the two regions is the same and the climate is practically the same. A Couple of Healthy Youngsters

Canada will be a great help to Victor when he grows up. Canada's Great Dane is only 18 months old and he has Victor Borden, the boy, at the National Pet Show in Chicago.

Fire In Montreal General Hospital
MONTREAL, Dec. 6.—Damage estimated at $150,000 was done by a fire that partially destroyed the oldest section of the western side of the Montreal General Hospital in the west end of the city. The fire broke out in the night and the fire department was called in. The fire was caused by a gas stove in the kitchen. The fire spread to the main building and the fire department was called in. Doctors Recommend Eno
All over the world doctors prescribe Eno—they use it themselves. Refreshing, non-habit forming, Eno's "Fruit Salt" cleanses the system, purifies the blood, stimulates the liver—gently, naturally. Children need Eno, too.
